Bláthanna Gairdín Éireannacha

Taispeántar ar na stampaí seo ceithre phlanda Éireannacha ar cineál dúchasach fiáin ceann acu agus ar cineálacha a d'fhorbair an duine na cinn eile.

Léiríonn siad an éagsúlacht leathan plandaí a phóraitear in Éirinn agus toradh an traidisiúin fhada gairneoireachta sa tír.

Irish Garden Flowers

These stamps feature four Irish plants, one a wild native variety and the others developed by man.

They represent the wide variety of plants bred and nurtured in Ireland, the product of its long tradition of horticulture.

Irish Garden Flowers

This is the 13th issue in the annual "Fauna and Flora" series, and features four plants which are associated with Irish horticulture. The cultivation of plants and development of new species has been well established in Ireland for several hundred years, as evidenced by the 1987 stamp issued by An Post to commemorate the Tercentenary of Trinity College Botanic Gardens in Dublin.

The flowers featured in the 1990 stamps are superimposed on an illustration of the garden with which each is particularly associated:

Narcissus "Foundling" (26p)
A variety recently developed by Mrs. Kate Reade of Broughshane which has won many prizes. Tully Japanese Gardens, Co. Kildare, are shown in the background.

Rosa x hibernica (30p)
A wild plant, which may be considered the "true Irish rose". It is now, unfortunately, extinct in the wild, and is found only in gardens such as those at Malahide Castle, Co. Dublin, which can be seen in the background.
