

Baseball Centennial Celebration

May 6 to September 4, 1939

COOPERSTOWN, NEW YORK

"The Birthplace of Baseball"

A continuous program all summer at Cooperstown is commemorating the invention of baseball there in 1839. Located at Cooperstown is "Doubleday Field", site of the original diamond, "National Baseball Museum", "Baseball Hall of Fame". James Fenimore Cooper's home was in Cooperstown. Historic and scenic points - abound.

THE BUCKET OF BLOOD
SALOON

The Bucket of Blood Saloon in Virginia City is still in operation, but its private jail cells for obtrusive patrons have long been in disuse. Gone too, are the strong arm methods of jovial "Big Foot Murphy" and his old time crew; replaced by V. L. McBride's modern drinks in an authentic old time setting.
