HUMBLES.—Almost everybody has at some time been swindled out of hard-earned dollars by sharpers. The patent medicine makers and quick doctors take scores of millions of dollars out of the people every year, and give in return poorer health. The newspapers, as a rule, are silent, because their support comes largely from medical advertisements. The American Agriculturist not only refuses all such advertisements, but it constantly exposes all sorts of swindling and quackery, and saves its readers from being humbugged. These exposures, published in every number for many years, have saved its readers and the country many millions of dollars. (See page 6.)
